In writing a poem, I find

Experimentation unkind.

With a meter that works,
I can work with its quirks,
But my own attempts feel unrefined.

track.

I hate jogging, but do it almost every day anyway. Have to stay in shape somehow, I guess.

Pole vault was fun as hell, though.

Knowing when someone is messing with me. (101.)

I always identified with this quote:

"They don't have sarcasm on Betelgeuse, and Ford Prefect often failed to notice it unless he was concentrating."

-Douglas Adams

Chess

Well, shit.

Never did get the hang of the strategies. People who know what they're doing beat me most of the time.

HAGGLING.

It feels gross.

To me, the money that might be saved isn't worth an undignified squabble.

(stupid)

It's a private thing.

"Oh well, whatever, nevermind."

-Kurt Cobain
